- FDJ records a 4.6% increase in sales to €14.3 billion in 2016 and enters third year of its FDJ 2020 project .

Stéphane Pallez, President and Chief Executive Officer of the FDJ Group said, “the game sector is continuing its transformation around the world with the introduction of new games, new generations of customers more accustomed to using digital technologies, and new meeting ground with the players. This revolution in games and betting is a source of opportunities for FDJ, the second-largest lottery company in Europe, committed to the completion of its FDJ 2020 project. The sales growth recorded in 2016 will enable us to continue FDJ’s digital transformation in optimum conditions, in line with the Group’s responsible business model. In 2017, FDJ will develop its dimension as a group, notably by merging its headquarters and several subsidiaries into a new site. FDJ will also strengthen the identity of the FDJ brand and its appeal in terms of entertainment and commitment values.”
